Welcome Letter from Lisa García Bedolla, Vice Provost for Graduate Studies and Dean of the Graduate Division

Dear Graduate Student Instructor,

I would like to welcome you as a member of the latest cohort of Berkeley GSIs to benefit from the Graduate Division’s Professional Standards and Ethics Online Course for GSIs. This course was created exclusively for Berkeley GSIs by the Graduate Division’s GSI Teaching & Resource Center with input from campus professionals with expertise in the areas addressed by the course.

This course reflects Berkeley’s longstanding commitment to providing GSIs with excellent academic preparation, not only in research but also in teaching. In 1989, the campus established the GSI Teaching & Resource Center to prepare GSIs for the teaching they will do at Berkeley and in future careers. In 2004 the Center was acknowledged as “a model for TA development programs everywhere” by a team of external reviewers in the University’s reaccreditation process.

In 1996, the Graduate Council established a comprehensive policy on the Appointments and Mentoring of GSIs, one of the first policies of its kind in the nation. This policy demonstrates the campus’s commitment to providing GSIs with guidance and mentoring as they develop their skills as teachers. In 2003, 2012, and 2016 the policy was revised to include additional professional preparation of GSIs for teaching.

The online course that you are about to take comprises one of the requirements of the Graduate Council Policy on Appointments and Mentoring of GSIs and is intended to introduce you to policies, practices, and standards that all GSIs need to know in order to perform their responsibilities professionally and ethically. Coupled with the Teaching Conference you will attend the Friday before classes begin, the semester-long seminar on teaching and learning in higher education you will take in your department, and the mentoring you will receive from faculty, this online course will provide you with an excellent foundation as you begin to teach.

GSIs play a central role in undergraduate education at Berkeley. The goal of this course and of all of the programs of the Graduate Division’s GSI Teaching & Resource Center is to enable you to carry out your responsibilities in a manner that promotes student learning and your own growth as a teacher while upholding the professional standards and expectations of the University. I wish you all the best as you begin to teach at Berkeley.

Lisa García Bedolla,
Vice Provost for Graduate Studies and Dean of the Graduate Division
Frequently Asked Questions

Who is required to take the online course, Professional Standards and Ethics for GSIs?

According to the Graduate Council’s Policy on Appointments and Mentoring of GSIs, all first-time GSIs at UC Berkeley are required to take the course.

Anyone who has a CalNet ID is welcome to take it, including faculty, staff, and students.

When must it be completed?

Every first-time GSI must successfully complete the course before they interact with students, whether in person or online, in their role as an instructor.

What topics does the course address?

The course consists of five modules:

- GSI Ethics and Professional Responsibilities
- Promoting Learning through Diversity: The Inclusive Classroom
- Teaching Students with Disabilities
- Creating an Educational Environment Free of Sexual Harassment
- Fostering Academic Integrity

More information about these topics is posted on the Course Overview page.

How long will it take to complete the course?
Each of the five modules should take approximately 45 minutes to complete, and each ends with a short quiz. The modules can be taken in different sessions over time; there is no need to take them all at once.

What does “successful completion” mean?

Successful completion means that the GSI scores 80% or higher on each of the five quizzes (that is, a minimum of 8 out of 10 quiz items correct on each quiz).

What if a GSI cannot pass a quiz?

For each module, the quiz can be taken up to five times. If you use all of your attempts and still have not passed, please contact the GSI Teaching & Resource Center (gsi@berkeley.edu) for assistance.

What if GSIs have questions after taking the course?

The Course Overview and Objectives page on the GSI Teaching & Resource Center website can serve as a refresher on the topics covered in the course or guide you back to the sections of the course that deal with a particular question; you are welcome to re-enter the course at any time.

The course includes an extensive Annotated Campus Resource List with contact information for units on campus that can address follow-up questions. A PDF version of the Annotated Campus Resource List can be downloaded from that web page for offline use. This list, which includes references and links to the written materials referred to in the course, can also be found on the GSI Teaching & Resource Center website.

In addition, content specialists from various campus offices listed in the Annotated Campus Resource List are available to give presentations in GSI pedagogy course meetings to supplement the information covered by the online course. Contact the GSI Teaching & Resource Center at gsi@berkeley.edu for assistance.

How will the University know that a GSI has completed the course?

A report of all the GSIs who successfully completed the course is generated from the Gradebook in bCourses. This report is subsequently uploaded to a Student Information Systems (SIS) database. Because course completions are not auto-recorded in SIS, please be aware that there may be a delay between the time you finish the course and the time the completion registers in SIS.

How will I, or my department, know that I completed the online course?

A checklist of first-time GSI requirements should appear on your dashboard in CalCentral. Once the report of your completion is uploaded to SIS (please see “How will the University know...?” above), the item for the GSI Ethics Course will be removed from your CalCentral checklist.
Because course completions are not auto-recorded in SIS, please be aware that there may be a delay between the time you finish the course and the time the completion registers in SIS.

Once SIS has the data, departmental Graduate Student Service Advisors will have the ability to verify individuals’ completions through their staff CalCentral interface.

Will I receive a certificate of completion?

No, there is no final certificate. However, you can print or take a screenshot of your bCourses Gradebook entry showing the five passing scores.

Am I paid for taking the course?

Yes. GSIs are normally paid beginning August 1 for the fall semester and beginning January 1 for the spring semester; this allows GSIs to complete the course after the start date of their position but before their first day of interacting with students in their role as instructors.

Do GSIs still need to take the online sexual harassment prevention course offered by the UC Learning System?

Yes. The University has adopted a plan for all members of the UC Berkeley community to receive updated training about sexual harassment and sexual violence. The training strategy involves engaging every student and employee through multiple channels.

- All incoming graduate students are required to take the online training module by EVERFI called “Sexual Assault Prevention for Graduate Students.” This training will be made available in your CalCentral Dashboard on July 19, 2021 and must be completed by September 27, 2021. If you have questions or concerns about this training, please write to gradlife@berkeley.edu with your SID.
- All incoming graduate students must also participate in a live virtual training in their first six weeks on campus. Options to complete this training are scheduled at the beginning of each term and at select department orientations. Further information can be found on the campus Addressing Sexual Violence and Sexual Harassment website under Required SVSH Trainings.
- All employees of the University, including GSIs, are required to take the UC Sexual Violence and Sexual Harassment Prevention Training for employees. As their hiring papers are processed, GSIs will be sent emails granting them access to the course.

The module on sexual harassment prevention in this online ethics course fulfills the sexual violence and sexual harassment prevention training requirement for GSIs in their first semester of teaching and is a long-standing preparation requirement for all first-time GSIs. It differs from the other trainings in that it focuses on sexual harassment issues as they may arise in the course of a GSI’s duties.

Who created the course?
The GSI Professional Standards and Ethics Online Course was created by the Graduate Division’s GSI Teaching & Resource Center with input from a distinguished advisory group consisting of professionals on the campus with expertise in the areas covered by the course. The advisory group included:

Connie Chiba, Former Coordinator, Disabled Students’ Services, Disabled Students’ Program
Nancy Chu, Former Assistant Vice Provost, Campus Climate and Compliance, Title IX/VI Compliance Officer
Kathleen Dickson, Former Ombudsperson for Graduate and Undergraduate Students and Postdoctoral Appointees

Course Instructions

To enter the course modules, please use the links on the course home page in bCourses. Page through each module using the “Next” link on each page.

Please note the following technical matters:

- This course works best on a laptop or desktop computer. The course has features that require JavaScript; instructions for enabling JavaScript in your browser are available at activatejavascript.org.
At the end of each of the five course modules is a Module Quiz. These quizzes help you master the material by reviewing content, connecting concepts, and applying concepts to new scenarios. They also demonstrate your successful completion of each module.

- You must score an 8 or higher out of 10 on this quiz. If your score is under 8, you are allowed to retake the quiz up to four times (that is, you have 5 attempts total). If you exhaust four of your five attempts and still have not passed, please contact the GSI Teaching & Resource Center (gsi@berkeley.edu) for assistance.
- Each of the quizzes is linked from within its corresponding module. The Quizzes tool is not available in the bCourses navigation menu for this course.

We invite you to take advantage of the optional Discussions for the course modules, which you can access using the Discussions tool in the bCourses left sidebar. The Discussions provide a good venue for further conversation with peers about the course content.

To receive hard-copy evidence of completion after you have successfully completed all the modules and quizzes, go to “Grades” in the bCourses left sidebar. Your quiz scores will show up in Grades. You can print or take a screen shot of this page to keep as evidence of your completion. Your completion data will also be uploaded to the campus Student Information System to verify that you have satisfied the Ethics Course requirement.

We ask you to fill out the Course Evaluation after you complete all of the course modules. Your comments and feedback help us improve the course.

Course Overview and Objectives

Module 1

GSI Ethics and Professional Responsibilities

Preview of Module

In Module 1, you will examine the following topics:

- ethics and standards in teaching;
- understanding your responsibilities as a GSI;
- managing the instructional environment;
- advising and appropriate relationships with students;
- fair evaluation of student performance; and
- student information and privacy rights.
Learning Objectives

After exploring these topics, you should be able to...

- identify standards of professionalism and ethical behavior for GSIs and apply these standards successfully to ethical dilemmas;
- take steps to identify your responsibilities and those of the Instructor of Record;
- create an instructional environment that is conducive to student learning and safety;
- establish professionally appropriate relationships with students and refer them to appropriate campus resources;
- take steps to ensure that student performance is evaluated fairly; and
- protect the privacy rights of students regarding grades and other personal information, and identify who has the right to know this information.

Module 2

Promoting Learning through Diversity: The Inclusive Classroom

Preview of Module

In Module 2, you will examine the following topics:

- the diversity of UC Berkeley students;
- advantages and challenges of learning in a diverse environment;
- strategies and resources for promoting an inclusive academic environment; and
- relevant policies and laws.

Learning Objectives

After exploring these topics, you should be able to...

- explain to a colleague why GSIs should strive for an inclusive academic environment;
- identify instances of discrimination, stereotyping, and harassment in the learning environment;
- develop informed and measured responses to discrimination, stereotyping, and harassment in the learning environment;
- develop pedagogical and professional-development practices that promote inclusion and support equity for all students;
- refer to federal legislation and campus policies on nondiscrimination based on protected categories; and
• identify campus resources that can help you and your students learn more about ways to build and benefit from an inclusive learning environment.

Module 3

Teaching Students with Disabilities

Preview of the Module

In Module 3, you will explore the following topics:

• relevant policy and law;
• accepted terminology;
• UC Berkeley statistics;
• the Disabled Students’ Program (DSP);
• academic accommodations;
• tips for teaching students with disabilities;
• enhancing learning through Universal Design; and
• campus resources.

Learning Objectives

After exploring these topics, you should be able to...

• identify appropriate steps to take to find out if you have students for whom the Disabled Students’ Program has issued a Letter of Accommodation;
• respond appropriately if a student tells you that he or she has a disability and needs an accommodation;
• explain to a colleague Berkeley’s policies and procedures for determining whether a student needs an accommodation, what that accommodation should be, and how you and the Instructor of Record become informed about this determination;
• state the reasons you are not the appropriate person to decide whether a student needs an accommodation, and why you should not devise accommodations of your own;
• take steps to create a classroom environment based on the concept of Universal Design for Instruction, which will minimize difficulties for students with disabilities, enabling them to participate fully in the learning process; and
• identify the resources on campus that can address questions you may have about teaching students with disabilities.
Module 4

Creating an Educational Environment Free of Sexual Harassment

Preview of Module

In Module 4, you will explore the following topics:

- the GSI’s role in maintaining an environment free from discrimination and harassment;
- policy, law, and campus units that deal with instances of sexual harassment and sexual violence if you, other instructors, or a student are impacted;
- forms of sexual harassment and indicators that GSIs may see;
- teaching strategies for preventing sexual harassment; and
- responding to sexual harassment and sexual violence if you, other instructors, or a student are impacted.

Learning Objectives

After exploring these topics, you should be able to...

- distinguish ways in which a GSI’s role in relation to the University of California (UC) Policy on Sexual Violence and Sexual Harassment (SVSH) differs from a student’s role;
- explain the relationship between federal law and the UC SVSH Policy and complaint resolution procedures;
- identify prohibited behavior as defined in the UC SVSH Policy, in order to avoid and deter it in course-related interactions;
- prevent sexual harassment in your role as a GSI;
- respond helpfully and appropriately to possible incidents of sexual harassment and sexual violence;
- identify campus resources available to GSIs and students for confidential consultation and support; and
- identify to whom reports of sexual harassment and violence should be made to seek resolution.
Module 5

Fostering Academic Integrity

Preview of Module

In Module 5, you will explore the following topics:

- the UC Berkeley Campus Code of Student Conduct;
- forms of academic misconduct;
- causes of academic misconduct and strategies to address them;
- steps to promote academic integrity;
- test-taking and cheating;
- preventing plagiarism;
- responding to academic misconduct;
- students’ rights when a complaint is filed; and
- campus resources.

Learning Objectives

After exploring these topics, you should be able to...

- identify what constitutes academic misconduct;
- explain to a colleague some of the reasons that students cheat or plagiarize;
- select teaching strategies to foster academic integrity;
- identify the resources on campus that can assist in handling academic violations of the UC Berkeley Campus Code of Student Conduct; and
- describe the steps you should take as a GSI to handle student academic misconduct.

GSI Teaching & Resource Center

The GSI Teaching & Resource Center is an academic unit in the Graduate Division that provides pedagogical support and guidance for GSIs. Programs include teaching conferences for first-time GSIs, workshops, course improvement grants, teaching awards, confidential consultations, the GSI Professional Standards and Ethics in Teaching Online Course, the Certificate in Teaching and Learning in Higher Education, and the Language Proficiency Program for GSIs who do not speak English as a native language. The Center maintains the online Teaching Guide for GSIs and houses a physical library of books, articles, videos, and other reference materials on teaching.

510-664-4218 or csi@berkeley.edu

Submit a Care Report

Students may be referred to the Center for Support and Intervention when they are exhibiting concerning behaviors related to their personal, physical, and emotional well-being. You should feel free to call for consultation prior to submitting a Care Report if you are hesitant, have questions, or need immediate advice. After reviewing a Care Report, the Center for Support and Interventions brings select cases to the Students of Concern Committee, when appropriate.

The purpose of the Students of Concern Committee is to provide a means for early intervention of at-risk students. The Committee includes representatives from the Counseling and Psychological Services, the Center for Student Conduct, the Office of the Dean of Students, the Disabled Students Program, the UC Police Department, and several other offices. When a case is brought to the committee by the Center for Support and Intervention, the committee collects additional information and identifies and enacts appropriate strategies for addressing the situation.

The Students of Concern Committee is not meant to be the sole mechanism of communication and does not take the place of services provided by Counseling and Psychological Services, the Center for Student Conduct, the University Police, or other established student services.

The Basic Needs Center serves as a resource hub for basic needs resources and services, and a space for students to create community and access coordinated support for their basic needs. Services at the Basic Needs Center include Case Management for students who need support navigating unstable housing (including homelessness and emergency housing needs), access to food (including CalFresh application support, Food Pantry access, and other food assistance), and more. Students can be referred directly to the Basic Needs Center, or GSIs can submit a Care Report, to request support from a Case Manager in the Basic Needs Center.

Confidential Advocates

510-642-1988 or pathtocare@berkeley.edu

https://care.berkeley.edu

Confidential Advocates provide free affirming, empowering, and confidential support for survivors and those who have experienced gendered violence, including sexual harassment, dating and intimate partner violence, sexual assault, stalking, and sexual exploitation. Advocates bring a non-judgmental, caring approach to exploring all options, rights, and resources.

It is always the victim’s/survivor’s decision to pursue any of the available resources or to report an incident to the police or the university. Confidential Advocates are here to support your decisions.

Contacting Confidential Advocates at PATH to Care Center

Office Line: 510-642-1988

For questions, consultations, or non-immediate referrals, this number connects you with the UC Berkeley PATH to Care Center. Faculty, staff, undergraduate, graduate, and professional students should use this number for general inquiries and to arrange services or appointments that will be scheduled a day or more in advance. Our office is located on central campus.

Care Line: 510-643-2005

For urgent situations the Confidential Care Line can be used to:

- Give survivors a way to connect with an advocate on their own time
- Provide survivors information about reporting, medical rights, and other options
- Arrange for an advocate to provide accompaniment anytime the police are present

PATH to Care Consultations and Workshops
The PATH to Care Center also offers prevention consultations (learn how to make positive change to prevent SVSH in your classroom, lab, program, or department); prevention workshops for groups; and workshops on how to respond with care to survivors. To request a workshop, please email the PATH to Care Center at pathtocare@berkeley.edu.
